FINIAL DEDICATION

Faithfulness and exemplary living are qualities often unseen in our culture, but Drs. Brian and Rona Kingsmore have modeled Christ-likeness to our student bodies for the past eight years.

The Kingsmores joined the seminary in 1984, Brian coming to teach evangelism, and Rona to join later, teaching linguistics.

Brian's dynamic preaching and evangelism style has led him to be known by some as "the fiery Irishman", but his strong love for his Lord is evident in relationships with students, friends, and colleagues.

Dr. Rona Kingsmore's work here has primarily been in the area of linguistics, though with an emphasis on the urgency of world evangelism. She has also been deeply involved in students' lives, through consultation, encouragement, and living an exemplary life-style before the CBCS family.

We the 1992 Finial staff and student body of CBCS dedicate this yearbook to these two faithful servants of our Lord.

To Brian and Rona, thank you for your exciting lives of service to Christ, and for being examples of godly living and ministry through evangelism. We trust that these pages will show the commitment to world evangelization that you have modeled before us.

"... Our adequacy is from God. . ."

II Corinthians 3:5b

Dear Class of 1992:

If our adequacy does not come from the Lord, where will it come from? Our brains, or energy, or talents certainly aren't the spiritual tools to change the world. And if our adequacy does come from the Lord, then anyone who is a clean and available vessel is usable to accomplish eternal things.

I trust that you will carry with you II Corinthians 3:5 throughout your life, always looking to God and never relying upon self.

Thank you for your encouragement during this first year of my presidency. You have made our whole family feel like part of the extended family, and we trust that those ties strengthen in the coming years.

In His grace,

It's what you are found doing every day in your life that really counts in the end. Though we may recall our lives in terms of steps, such as marriage, a graduation, or some other monument of significance, it is the everyday activities that determine who we are.

Sometimes the bland activities, as normal as dirty laundry and hard exams, have a much more profound effect on our character than those exciting times we remember most.

.. And this is love: . . .

God has made us in His likeness, thus we are emotional beings. We've been designed in a way that our facial expressions often reveal what we really feel on the inside. There is a time for everything, including our emotions. It's important to laugh, cry, be serious, and experience the whole gamut of emotions, not just throughout a life time, but each and every day.

...His command is that you walk in love."

"Step by Step" is a little figurative in it's meaning, but it's one of the few analogies that is not culturally relative. It's understandable that to walk a mile it may take 2,000 steps, simply because we can't do it in one leap. So in life, it's the many 'little' things in life that add to the whole.

ACTIVITIES AND MINISTRY CANDIDS

Music. It's an integral part of our relationship with the Lord. We worship, thank, and petition the Lord through song, as He commands in His Word.

The CBCS music ministry teams had a large ministry impact throughout the southeastern states this school year, praising and leading worship in numbers of different churches. Though the different groups spoke through widely varying styles of music, all carried the same message of life in their songs.

The Wind Ensemble, comprised of both students and local musicians, held on-campus concerts regularly, and played for the Presidential Inauguration, as well as in several local churches throughout the year.

The Grad Singers, led by Donna Krieger, were also able to worship through song in several different ways. The group held concerts in local churches and during chapels.

During Spring Break, the Singers toured in Florida, Georgia, and throughout the Carolinas.

The Ambassador Choir also had a good year of ministry in many local churches, including some concerts held in local correctional facilities. Led by Dr. Osterlund, the choir had some very unusual opportunities on their tour along the eastern states.

During Spring Break, the twenty-four voice choir toured northward along the coast, singing in many different churches.

A highlight of the tour was a stop in Washington, D.C., where the choir was able to hold a concert in the Rotunda of the U.S. Senate Building.

The Coordinating Council's primary responsibility is the oversight of all student activities for the facilitation of unity and involvement of the student body. This year the Council planned and coordinated many different activities, from the Fall Quarter Hay Ride to the Pig Pickin' held in the spring. The Council was equally busy keeping abreast of the many structural changes in the school, from the new Student Life division and its related changes to the adjustments with our new president.

To Dave, Tim, Bev, Aimee, and Katherine, I pledge my gratitude for your unceasing service and sacrifice to the graduate student body. I praise God for the gifts He gave each one of you, and how He has enabled you to use them. You have been a source of encouragement, not only to the student body, but to your oft' befuddled president as well.

May God bless you in your future service to Him.

The 1992 school year was on of transition for CBCS. While the school inaugurated Dr. Miller as president, installed new student's Deans, and redefined the Student Life division, the Student Association tried to be a stabilizing factor in the lives of the students. S.A. was the ears to hear the students and the voice which spoke to the faculty and administration concerning students' needs.

S.A. went through a few changes itself this year, planning ahead for expanding ministry and influence in the lives of our students. The major change was the new form of leadership, designed in a way that S.A. may be more effective in the future, thru administration, recreation, and, most importantly, thru spiritual leadership.

STUDENT MINISTRIES

The Final Yearbook

The theme for this year's book, "Step by Step" was chosen in an attempt to capture the many changes which transpired throughout the year. Our hope through this is to encourage you to see the Christian walk as a daily, step-by-step process, based more on a consistent relationship with God than any other factor in our lives.

Student Missions Fellowship

SMF was able to be involved in world evangelism through many different avenues this year. The main route was through raising students' interest in missions, and SMF was also able to involve some students directly in missions projects. This year's giving project went toward the purchase of computer equipment for Bible Christian Union's Spain headquarters, and SMF was able to send two students, Todd Hancock and Ed Green to Spain during the summer to help BCU staff.

World Christian Week

World Christian Week is one of SMF's outreach projects throughout the school year. The project was well staffed this year, with 35+ members involved in the week of February 18-21, 1992.

Frank Severn was guest speaker at the daily chapel meetings, as well as the special Prayer Day events. Chapel assemblies were kept lively through the leadership of the WCW rock band, and director Richard Anderson kept spirits high with his wild and unusual emcee antics.

The fifty-third edition of the Final was printed by Herff Jones, Inc. Type face in the book is Adobe Garamond. Body copy and captions are set in 10 and 9 point sizes, respectively. Sub-heads are set in 20 point. All graphics were designed by yearbook staff on the Macintosh, except the marble background, which was scanned via PC, then manipulated via the Macintosh.

The 1992 Final was produced in a limited edition of 900 copies, printed on 80-pound gloss paper. Class portraits were made by Garrison Photography of West Columbia, SC. All other photographs were taken by student and staff photographers.

All 1992 CBCS students, faculty, and staff are listed in the index, excluding only students who registered for less than six qtr. hours of credit.

The page number first listed is the class portrait, and additional candid thereafter.

The year of 1991-92 here has definitely been a memorable one. We think of all the changes that have taken place in so many ways; having a new president, new student deans, new faces on campus, even new furniture in the Student Center. More importantly we remember all the changes that took place in our hearts as the Holy Spirit worked in us. One of these ways was through daily chapels. And we were all impacted as well by the outstanding messages from Charles Price, Philip Yancey, Rodney Stanley, and President Miller, to mention a few. But throughout the year we've grown closer together as we have sought to know Him better and how to effectively make Him known.

Choosing the theme for this year's book was especially difficult. We somehow wanted to capture all of the new beginnings that have taken place, or perhaps focus on our year verse and the necessity of our adequacy coming from God alone. What seemed to be most important, however, was to preserve a memory of God's work in our lives individually. "Step by Step" seems to most accurately depict how He leads us, and the vitality of our walking closely with Him moment by moment.

Our thanks to those who supported us in this project: our roommates, for patience through many late nights; our staff, for capturing those pictures; and our Lord, for giving us a reason to exist in this life and the promise of another.

May you continue to follow the steps of Him who suffered and died for us.
